

AMERICAN COAL BRINGS

GEORGE BROWN AND HIS WIFE IN Tears at Trial

By CHARLES O. POWER

Every former war service man and woman and the people of New England generally, will be deeply interested in the following communication from R. G. Cholmeley-Jones, director of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance at Washington:

Boston American, Boston, Mass. In connection with your list of complaints of War Risk Insurance cases I find 137 requiring full compensation, although not all are at Parker Hill but cause no requests have come from Chicago to check address. Address cannot be changed without request of claimant. Sixty-two are receiving compensation in smaller amounts owing to lack of evidence as to cause and actual date of hospitalization from authorities. Seventy-one have filed their claims within six weeks although they had been discharged more than a year and all the evidence has not been received.

THREE NEGLECTED.

Fifty-five I am unable to connect with the service and endeavoring to obtain additional medical evidence. Eleven recently were dropped by the Vocational Board and have not been picked up by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance. Forty-nine have not received acknowledgment from the Bureau, but full action is being taken.

These showed evidence of neglect by the Bureau. Thirty-eight were in process of amendment and were sent special delivery, some to hospital and some to homes in accordance with the law. Most of these checks of $12,329.28. One check went out on October 8, 1920.

Most careful check records of Parker Hill cases have failed to identify any ever having filed claim. Name have been telegraphed to Murphy (Major Thomas P. Murphy, Boston, director of the War Risk Bureau) to locate them at once.

(Signed) R. G. CHOLMELEY-JONES, Director.

SUBMITTED 448 CASES.

This makes a total of 448 cases submitted to the director of the Bureau by the Boston American for investigation. He received the list on September 27, and at the annual convention of the American Legion at Cleveland. He promised prompt and thorough action and kept his word. In presenting him with the list, the representative of the Boston American said it was his duty to do so. The representative of the American Legion said he was glad to see the list and that he would do his best to help him by putting into his hands the names of those deserving benefits of the War Risk law. He was being greatly neglected, in spite of his rules and orders and example, through the indifference of some of his subordinates and the failure of the American Legion Service to function with the Bureau.

COMPLAINTS THIRTEEN AMERICAN.

The American was moved to this effort of co-operation with the director of the Bureau because of the daily increasing number of complaints from patients. In the American Legion, some alleged that they had been allowed to build up a reputation of competence in keeping track of their beneficiaries, but that the indifference of some of his subordinates and the failure of the American Legion Service to function with the Bureau.

PHASE DIRECTOR.

They praise his stand for more generous legislation and his fight to get the American Legion to co-operate with the service organizations have been received. Some alleged that they had been allowed to build up a reputation of competence in keeping track of their beneficiaries, but that the indifference of some of his subordinates and the failure of the American Legion Service to function with the Bureau.

ANALYSIS OF THIS REPORT DISCLOSES

These important facts: Through this intervention of the American and the personal efforts of the bureau director one man has received a delayed check, $1885, and thirty-eight patient waiters have come into possession, by special delivery, of $12,329.28, an average of $152, and the process of amendment, from which they were excluded, has been started.

RECEIVE CHECKS.

The compensation of sixty-two has been reduced because the Public Health Service has failed to report these important facts: Through this intervention of the American and the personal efforts of the bureau director one man has received a delayed check, $1885, and thirty-eight patient waiters have come into possession, by special delivery, of $12,329.28, an average of $152, and the process of amendment, from which they were excluded, has been started.

KEEP COAL UP

Cushing Charges False Assertions of Shortage by Government Commissions

Mr International News Service. Washington, Oct. 12.—Coal prices are being maintained at the present high level by coal authorities and the laws of supply and demand, George H. Cushing, director of the American Wholesale Coal Dealers Association today declared.

Cushing and others of public affairs to "make it appear that there is a coal shortage by the instance of extra orders to increase production, causing a false alarm that the figures on coal had not been met."

Priority orders issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission have not increased the output of coal, Cushing declared. He pointed to the statement of several months ago that a production of 15,000,000 tons would be required until the end of the year. He said that 14,000,000 tons would be mined.

"I hold there is no shortage, Cushing added. "I would like to see the extension of the war priority orders further west to include all of the Middle West and the West Coast," he said.

Further complications it will not increase production a ton," he replied. "Priority orders and distribution of coal more equitably and more fairly have not been met. This is caused by the false report of a shortage which has been made by the coal authorities."

Cushing's opinion, the National Coal Association maintains that priority orders are not sufficient to increase production of coal. The association, through its representative, however, said that present conditions can be met by the coal authorities.

The association reports indicate that the supply is rapidly increasing and that the coal authorities are not making a false report of a shortage.

Bite of Monkey May Change Crown

Athena, Greece, Oct. 12.—The bite of a monkey may change the crown of Greece. King Alexander, the twenty-seven-year-old monarch, is in a serious condition. He was admitted at the palace today as a result of being bitten by a pet simian.

It was further admitted that the question of a regency had been discussed, and that the council of ministers would take up the task of administering the country in the event of the King's condition becoming worse.

It was said that the physicians were relying only on the strong constitution of King Alexander to save him.

King Alexander was bitten by his pet monkey a short time ago, but at the time the wound was not considered serious. Although the court physicians employed every remedy known to medical science, the King steadily became worse.

No detailed statement was given at the time, although there was an attempt to conceal the fact that the illness of the monarch was serious.

The King's condition was serious. Infection set in, however, and although the court physicians employed every remedy known to medical science, the King steadily became worse.

STRAW VOTE FOR HARDING

Straw Vote Poll in Boston
Hostelries Give G. O. P. Candidate 4 to 1 Lead

The Presidential weather vane, in the form of the Boston American's nation-wide occupational poll, still points with steady trend to Senator Harding.

In fact it now seems that all that is necessary is to compute, as far as possible, the plurality which the Ohio Senator will receive over Governor Cox.

DEBTS VOTE INCREASING.
With a monetary rally ever witnessed in a major election, the vote for Harding kept piling up with only an occasional group voting in favor of the Democratic nominee. Debs, the socialist, has carried as many as ten groups as has Governor Cox and may receive a surprising vote upon election day.

But the groups voting in the straw ballot for Debs do not represent the great mass of voters. These are marking their blanks for Senator Harding, and doubtless will continue to do so at the polls in November.

Today's balloting by the American was conducted chiefly in the lobbies of Boston's hotels and elsewhere. The day's totals show over a four to one percentage for the Republican leader over Governor Cox, the Democratic standard-bearer and champion of the League of Nations.

WATKINS FAR BEHIND.
In today's voting, Watkins falls far behind, receiving but seven votes, while Christensen pulled eighteen and the twenty-four, American Hotel, the latter three candidates, Debs in far in the lead, having in the grand total, almost as many votes as Watkins and Christensen combined.

In the Congress Plaza Hotel, Harding pulled 47 votes and Cox received but five. Debs, however, drew 12, and also, at this hotel, sharing the honor with Cox and Christensen, Watkins drew a blank.

Most significant is the vote obtained in the Quincy House, for long a resort of all shades and grades of politicians.

At the Quincy Harding obtained a lead of one over Governor Cox, while Christensen and Debs each pulled nine votes.

The ship channel at Portland, Me., comes out strong for Harding, but the vote is half split between the Ohio Governor polling 24 votes and Watkins has four admirers among the vendors of ship's wares, and Christensen is low man with two.

MAJORITY FOR HARDING.
Not a single group in today's voting gave a majority for other than Senator Harding.

The grand total of votes to date is 11,140. Of this number Harding has received 8,712, against 2,393 for Governor Cox.

The largest percentage is the vote at the Congress Plaza, but the Chicago Athletic Club runs a close second, giving Harding 18 ballots to 7 for Cox.

FIND RUM CACHE IN BANDIT HUNT

Clinton Police Arrest New York Autoist Carrying 235 Quarts of Whiskey

Clinton, Oct. 12.—Searching for a masked bandit, alleged to have thrust a gun at an auto party near here last night, Sergeant George J. O'Malley and Patrolman Malone stumbled upon a cache of 235 quarts of whiskey in a compartment under the seat of a machine driven by Joseph White, who gave his address as No. 12 West 111th street, New York.

The machine was standing by the side of the road when the officers approached and asked White to show a registration card. A bag around the neck of the auto at the police station revealed the wet car.

The police placed Silver under arrest. The officers claim the defendant offered them $100 apiece if they would not look him up.

Fog Causes Accident at Fitchburg Road Crossing; Operator and Wife Killed

Shirley, Oct. 12.—In averting collision in a dense fog with an ex-press train, a motor car turned turtle along the Fitchburg road, and the operator and his wife were killed.

The motor car, a 1919 model, was driven by the operator, who was killed instantly. His wife, who was seated next to him, was also killed. The car was overturned on its side.

The accident occurred at a foggy crossing of the Fitchburg road and the railroad tracks. The operator was driving the car at a high speed when the fog suddenly descended.

The car was carrying a large amount of goods, including a barrel of oil. The goods were scattered all over the road after the accident.

The police are investigating the cause of the accident. They believe the fog was the main factor in the tragedy.

The bodies of the operator and his wife were recovered from the wreckage of the car. They were taken to the hospital for identification.

Divine Says Invention of Spirit Finder Feasible

Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—Thomas A. Edison's efforts to invent an instrument to determine the existence of spirits is a feasible undertaking, according to the Rev. Russell H. Conwell, noted minister and lecturer and founder of Temple University.

The Rev. Dr. Conwell, pastor of the Episcopal Church of St. Luke of the Philadelphia and noted author on the other hand, says he would not say as much as Edison says through a medium as to the feasibility of such an instrument.

"I sincerely believe," said Dr. Conwell, "that the day will come when an instrument will be invented to determine the existence of spirits. It is a question of time, and the invention of such an instrument will be a great step in the history of science."

Method Undiscovered. Although the Conwell is of the opinion that such an instrument is a feasible invention, he does not believe that it has been discovered. He believes that it will be discovered in the future.

He is waiting with interest the day when the inventor will announce the completion of such an instrument, which he announced as nearly completed several weeks ago. He believes that it will be a great step in the history of science.

"It should be understood," said Dr. Conwell, "that the invention of such an instrument will be a great step in the history of science. It will enable us to determine the existence of spirits, which is a great question in the history of science."

Something New! Sheep and Cattle Gland Substance in Tablet Form Combined With Iron.

Quite often recently newspapers have reported cases of monkey glands. People are now using gland extracts taken from healthy young sheep and cattle, prepared in tablet form with iron and other ingredients and eaten as one would eat a tablet.

The reason for the benefits secured by gland extracts, according to those who have given the subject close study, is that our thyroid glands govern the building-up process of the body.

When you are weak, run down, thin, anemic and listless, it would appear that our glands may not be secreting the proper amount of "hormones," which the new tablets attempt to supply.

Many times gland extracts combined with iron and other ingredients have been used in the treatment of the glands. The new tablets are prepared of any drugstore under the name of "Gland Tablets." The manufacturers of the new tablets "Gland Tablets" are confident that the new tablets will be a great success.

The new tablets will be sold by the Gland Company, Inc., in various sizes. The Gland Company, Inc., is a new company that has been organized to produce and distribute gland extracts. The company is confident that the new tablets will be a great success.

Mr. A. W. Hoyt of Lynn, Mass., father of the Red Sox star. Mr. Hoyt believes that sturdy, all-round health combined with natural skill and hard work have enabled his son to make his unusual record.

Sidelights on America's youngest Big League pitcher—

Father of Waite Hoyt gives new angle on home life of famous Red Sox star

Another notable discovered among the 2,000,000 families that have learned the value of correct bathing

ONLY 18 years old when he pitched on a World's Champion team

—the youngest player in the big leagues,
—that was the start made by Waite Hoyt of the Boston Red Sox. At the age of fifteen he joined the New York Giants. Today after a successful record of six years he is still the most youthful pitcher in the major leagues.

"Even when he was a little fellow in short pants, my boy could strike out any kid in the neighborhood," said Mr. A. W. Hoyt, father of the Red Sox star.

"But it takes more than skill—it takes sound, rugged health for a youngster like Waite to stand the strain of a big league season.

"Our family has always followed the simple rules of health. Long ago, for instance, we learned that bathing is more than just a way to get clean—that correct bathing with the right soap is a real way to build up strength. We saw what a difference the kind of soap could make as soon as we tried Lifebuoy.

"After a hard game—plenty of warm water and a cake of Lifebuoy Soap—Waite says that is all he needs to feel rested once more. Lifebuoy makes half again as much lather as ordinary soaps—a rich, heavy lather that invigorates the whole body and leaves the skin glowing with health."

Like the Hoyts there are 2,000,000 families in America who are building up health and strength every day by correct bathing with Lifebuoy. They know how the big, generous lather, and the mild antiseptic of the Health Soap invigorate the skin and tone up the whole system.

Doctors say that an inactive, "lazy" skin is the cause of much discomfort and poor health.

Waite Hoyt, one of the youngest players who ever broke into the Major Leagues. He was only 15 when he signed a contract with the New York Giants. Unlike many youthful wonders he has consistently made good. Today at the age of 21 he is one of the mainstays of the Red Sox pitching staff.

How a "lazy" skin makes trouble for the whole body

YOU know people who are forever complaining of the heat in the summer.

You remember others who always sneeze in the draft—who catch cold easily.

These are the two surest signs of a "lazy" skin and of all the trouble that it brings. They mean that your skin is not doing its work—that it is not giving your body full protection against heat and cold.

Just as our muscles become flabby when we don't exercise them, so our skin often grows inactive and loses its vigor. The tiny muscles of the pores and glands relax and grow weak. The skin is no longer able to regulate the heat of the body.

As a result we not only suffer too much from the heat and catch cold too easily, but also, when our skin grows "lazy" the vitality of our whole body is lowered. We get "tired out" earlier in the day. In addition, our skin is more likely to break out in rashes and eruptions.

That is what is meant by a "lazy" skin. Doctors have found that it can easily be restored to vigor and health by a little care in bathing.

Keep your skin always active—glowing with health

To keep the skin active and glowing with health, is easy for any average person. Already many people have found a simple, pleasant way to build up health through bathing.

Starting with a tub of warm or tepid water they bathe the whole body with the rich, generous lather of Lifebuoy Health Soap. Then comes a fresh, cold water sponge-off or shower, and a good vigorous rub-down.

Try a bath with Lifebuoy Soap yourself. You will be amazed at the difference—at the way it leaves you "tingling" all over. After a few weeks you will actually feel your skin growing more vigorous—more active. That means a clearer, fresher complexion, too—the radiant, outdoor look that everyone admires.

The odor tells you why

Notice, too, the clean, wholesome odor of the Health Soap. It contains a special ingredient—a mild antiseptic, that makes every bath "more than a pleasure." Because of this antiseptic, the rich Lifebuoy lather at once purifies and stimulates your skin. The odor tells you why Lifebuoy is known as the "Health Soap."

Start today to make every bath help build health for your whole body. Take a cake of Lifebuoy home with you. It is on sale at grocers, department and drug-stores. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Ordinary Soap Lifebuoy Health Soap

Work up the best possible lather in warm water with some ordinary soap. Then try the same experiment with Lifebuoy. You will find that Lifebuoy makes at least 50% more lather.

50% more lather than ordinary soap

Rich, generous lather—half again as much as with ordinary toilet soap. That's the result of the Red Palm oils in Lifebuoy.

Try the simple test shown above. See for yourself that Lifebuoy forms at least 50% more lather.

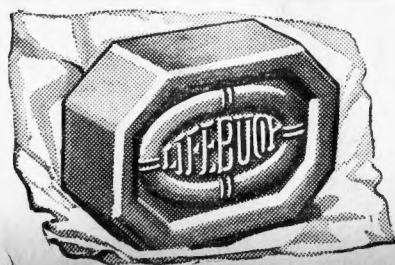

Notice, too, the clean, wholesome odor of the Lifebuoy antiseptic. The generous lather carries this cleansing antiseptic right down into the pores of the skin. That is why Lifebuoy keeps your whole skin glowing with health.

LAW AND ORDER—Yesterday's hang-up parade of Boston's "new" police force must have been an inspiration to our young Governor, who leaves this week for a political "invasion" of the South. With Superintendent Crowley at the head of the line and Commissioner Curtis in the reviewing stand beside the Governor the police gave a good account of themselves. The machine guns looked extremely formidable. Bostonians saw what modern police service may mean in time of riot or other emergency. So many Boston policemen are former service men that the show had a decidedly military aspect. Here we have the Headquarters Com-

DEAR P. MENIES SUGAR COERCION DIPLOMATS ROOM MAPS' RESOLVE

P. M. Leavitt Protests Action Against American Co. by Wholesalers

Stating that his company did not endorse the memorandum submitted to the Department of Justice by New England wholesale grocers urging the department to take action against the American Sugar Refining Company in relation to sugar contracts it entered into with its customers, P. M. Leavitt, president of the P. M. Leavitt Company, New England sugar distributor, has sent a letter to Attorney-General Mitchell Palmer.

"From the tenor of the statement in the press, your department may be of the opinion that all wholesalers of sugar are in accord with the memorandum," and that all are equally anxious to have the refining company prosecuted by your department towards the end that will result in all clauses of contracts at their obligations thereunder.

NOT UNDER DURESS.
"The company which I represent undoubtedly handles as much sugar as any other wholesale house in New England, and at the same time have taken the stand that the American Sugar Refining Company obtained the contracts referred to through representation of the company, I feel quite certain that most wholesalers here and abroad who share in the contracts, were perfectly willing at the time to do so."

"This was borne out by the fact that most wholesalers of sugar, in addition to the contracts they signed, have also purchased elsewhere of other American, in many instances at prices higher than those obtained by the refining company. At the time the contracts were signed, this price was far below the average sugar price in the country. Other refiners, at the same time, did not charge several cents a pound higher, and had no difficulty in readily disposing of their entire offerings."

SHORTAGE SEEMED CERTAIN.
"It is asserted that the refining company stated to its wholesalers that there would be a scarcity during the balance of the year, and that they signed these contracts for their protection. The truth of the matter is that it was at that time the current price in the sugar trade that for three or four years had been the lowest in many years, and that the wholesalers would be no available raw sugar supplies to be bought upon provided for earlier."

"The refining company, being anxious to provide for its customers, must have contracted for raws at that time, and sold them at a profit, rather than at a loss. There could be no market possibility. There could be no force of coercion used in obtaining contracts, although it may be that some wholesalers, realizing that if the allotment was refused, it might be refused, and therefore signed the contract."

Our Treatment of Russians Will Be Regretted

The following is a pathetic, even a tragic, communication to the American:

TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

Boston, Dear Island, Sept. 30, 1920.

American Citizens and Citizens!
We, Russian and Ukrainian deportees, protest against holding and detaining us for nearly nine months in American jails and prisons for no other crime than our political convictions and our natural sympathy with the Russian Federative Soviet Republic, which convictions and sympathy we have never tried to conceal.

We call your attention, American People, to the fact that for these, our convictions, and our loyalty to the Russian Federative Soviet Republic, we have been standard in all possible ways, arrested and now are being held in your jails for months and compelled to suffer and die "on installment plan" in your jails and in your prisons, American People.

We beg leave to ask you, American People, what would you say, if your fellow-citizens were jailed, beaten, gassed and otherwise tortured by Soviet authorities in Soviet Russia as we and our comrades have been by your authorities in your jails in your United States? Or what would the British government say if the American government jailed and punished Britishers for their loyalty to England? And, surely, you know, American People, if Americans in Soviet Russia, among them many our prisoners, whom Soviet authorities assisted and aided in all possible way to return to their United States if they so desired. There always was and always is the possibility for Americans in Soviet Russia to go back to U. S. A. whenever they wish to do so, but at the same time there is no possibility for us to go back to our native homes, where our mothers and fathers, our wives and children are longing for our return.

We declare it our inalienable right and duty to be loyal to our Russian Federative Soviet Republic, as it is your right and duty, American People, to be loyal to your Republic. And the same as it was the right and duty of your forefathers to give their lives for these United States, it is our right and duty to stand ready to give our lives for the Revolutionary Proletariat of Russia.

If, then, our convictions and loyalty to the Russian Federative Soviet Republic, do not for any reason meet with the approval of the U. S. A. government, we demand that the bars be lifted and we be permitted to return to our native countries or be deported by way of any European port where Soviet government representatives could meet us and arrange for a safe conduct for us to Soviet Russia.

Americans! We believe still firmly in the integrity and honor of your national character and, in this belief, we submit our case and cause to your sober and impartial judgment.

TIMOTHY SAVCHENKO,
ALEXANDER TARGONY,
DM. IWANKIW.

Americans who read this communication ought to think it over, review the history of their country, reconsider their ideals and ask themselves if we are entitled to any rights which we are not willing to accord to others.

In the years to come we shall be busy hiding from our children the knowledge of the conduct of our National Government with respect to these poor Russians and with respect to Russia generally.

Catholic Alumnae Working to Improve Mankind

The success of the fourth biennial convention of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, which was brought to a close yesterday in this city, is convincing testimony that the graduates of Roman Catholic institutions for higher learning for women are bearing their share of the world's problems.

The Catholic women, represented by the two hundred and fifty delegates who attended this convention, are working in divers ways to encourage decent literature, to help the blind, to improve the tone of the modern theatre and to multiply existing opportunities for the higher education of women under religious auspices. They seek to bring to the assistance of the Catholic mind to bear in the interests of law and order, while at the same time they co-operate with agencies everywhere in working for genuine freedom.

Boston had only to scan the list of patronesses to be assured that this meeting of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae would add one more to the long list of worth-while conventions that have been held here this year. On that list, among many others, were the names of Miss Mary A. Barry, Mrs. John T. Bottomley, Mrs. Francis A. Campbell, Mrs. J. J. Corbett, Mrs. H. V. Cunningham, Mrs. John D. Drum, Mrs. T. J. Falvey, Mrs. James J. Phelan, Mrs. Hugh Nawn and Miss Julia C. Prendergast.

These ladies and their associates are to be congratulated upon the success of the convention.

Make Our Highways Safe for Women and Girls

Publicity given to the brutal attack last week upon a young woman in Wakefield is followed by the report that between August 16th and September 4th three attacks of the same nature were made on girls of fourteen and fifteen and a young matron of thirty-two at Woburn, Wilmington and North Wilmington in the same section of Middlesex County.

These reports are received coincidentally with stories of attacks upon girls and women in several parts of Greater Boston. In Cambridge, within a few days, several men have been sent to prison for abusing children.

Why an outbreak of this sort of crime at this time? Is it one of the reactions of the World War, as suggested in Great Britain? Or is it because men of a certain type have been driven by prohibition out of their accustomed haunts and into the highways?

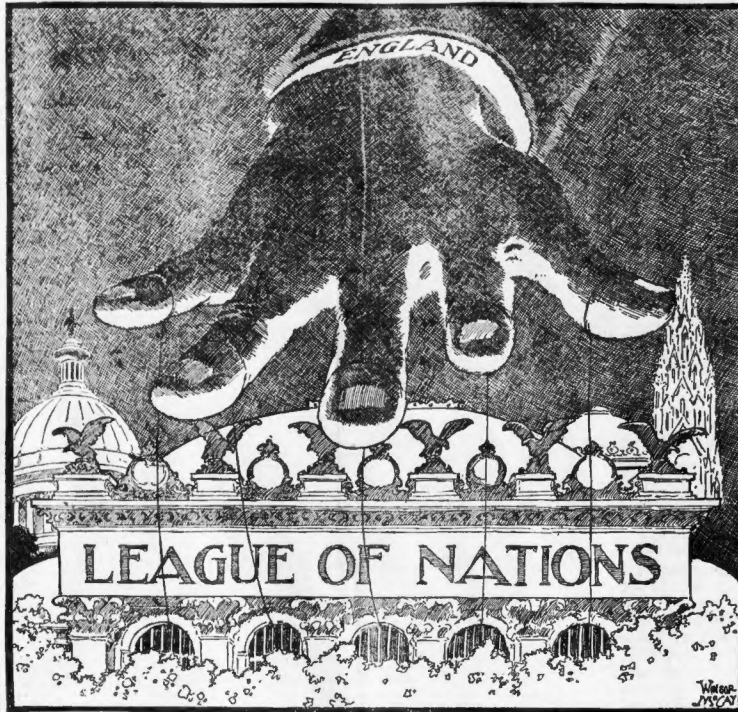

It used to be the proud boast of New Englanders that our women and girls were as safe on the loneliest country road as they were in their living rooms. If anything has happened to make our highways unsafe the authorities should be on the alert to meet the changed conditions.

We can think of no better example to set before rural authorities than the prompt action of the Wakefield police in the Wana-maker case. In the lexicon of the post paragrapher, smart little Wakefield is, perhaps, in the "small town" class. The Wakefield police, nevertheless, strike us as in every respect a metropolitan outfit.

Make New England roadways safe for women and girls. And keep them safe!

More Truth Than Poetry

Triumphant Matrimony
By S. E. KIER

IS marriage a success? I'll say it is! If you are plagued by any doubt, forget it. The man who asks a lady to be his May, now and then, have reason to regret it. But that is incidental; we must not Build up our arguments on mere mischances; Without the sacred ceremony, what Foundation would remain for sweet romances?

IF marriage were abolished, who would care To be a partner in a mad flirtation? Elopement would become a tame affair. Attended by no neighborhood sensation. The world would be a dull old place, and life

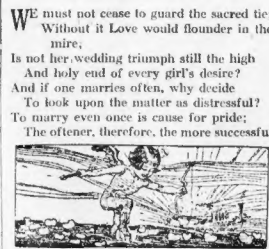

Would cease to have the gossip's glad approval If no man ever loved another's wife Or schemed to cause her husband's quick removal.

THE charm that courtship has would disappear, The stars would cease to twinkle down their courses If marriage were a thing for men to fear. Made so by lack of such things as divorces. The stage would lose its lure, the play would be Devoid of any thrill or gay illusion If all the players and the plays were free From any matrimonial confusion.

WE must not cease to guard the sacred tie; Without it Love would flounder in the mire, Is not her wedding triumph still the high And holy end of every girl's desire?

And if one marries often, why decide To look upon the matter as distressful? To marry even once is cause for pride: The oftener, therefore, the more successful.

CANADA TO THE RESCUE
It is alleged that much bootleg is being smuggled across the Canadian border. This may account for the fact that few people are now being killed by wood alcohol.

Letters to the Editor

Scots Waking Up

Editor Boston American:

In reply to Mr. H. N. Bell's inquiry as to why Scotland doesn't want to cut the painter which holds her to England, I would say that Scotland remains within the Empire and Ireland wants to go out of it for just the same reason that Canada remained in it and the United States got out of it. Canada and Scotland don't know any better. The average Scotsman thinks he's free. The average Irishman knows he is not free. The liberal land laws that Mr. Bell says Ireland has got were obtained, not through any spontaneous liberality on England's part, but were the result of many years of fierce agitation. The Scottish crofters are still in the condition that their forefathers were centuries ago trying to eke out an existence on the barren highland hills whilst the fertile lands are turned into deer parks. If they are satisfied that's their look-out.

But Scotsmen are beginning to wake up. The millions of square miles that the valor of Scottish soldiers has helped to add to the British Empire have only increased the misery and burdens of the toiling, hidden masses of Glasgow and Edinburgh and made cannon fodder of the Highlanders, whose conditions in normal times are perhaps the worst in Europe. Stars and Stripes

Genius usually is temperamental, but it isn't temperamental that makes the genius.

The extra billion dollars spent by Americans for sugar this year because President Wilson refused to authorize an option on last year's Cuban crop would have paid a lot of war taxes.

Concerning woman's dress, I know that I possess no right to find The slightest fault therewith, but, oh, I feel so sorry for the blind.

Profiteers caught with large stocks on hand as prices begin to tumble can put all the sympathy they get from the public in the left-hand corner of the right eye.

YE TOWNE GOSSIP

By K. C. B.

Dear K. C. B.: I have a very attractive stenographer. Also a wife. My stenographer is a very clever girl, a great asset to me in my business. My wife is jealous of her. Why? Because she is so darned good-looking and bright at the same time. Two qualities that don't often go together. She thinks I employ her looks. I can't convince her that it is her ability I admire. The wife wants me to fire her. Now, I don't want to lose my good stenographer or the wife.

What shall I do? A QUANDARY.

MY DEAR QUANDARY:

BUT THE whole blamed crowd.

LOOKING FOR something.

TO WRITE about.

I SAT me down.

AND FILLED my lap.

WITH A stack of letters.

THAT HAVE come to me.

IN MY daily mail.

AND GOT to yours.

AND READ it through.

AND THEN arose.

FROM WHERE I work.

AND TOOK it out.

TO THE living room.

WHERE SITS my wife.

WITH FOUR old friends.

ALL COME to see.

AND I read to them.

YOUR TALE of woe.

AND ASKED of them.

THAT THEY answer it.

AND STRANGE it is.

SHE'S A beautiful soul.

THANK you.

THANK you.

THANK you.

THANK you.

THINGS IN GENERAL None Very Long

Copyright, 1920, Star Company.

The International Labor Congress, of the League of Nations, kindly offers to the United States "the seat of one governmental delegate in the International Labor Commission."

You observe that Mr. Gompers, who is for the League of Nations where the United States as a whole is concerned, has expressed firmly his determination to have nothing to do with the goings on of foreign labor unions.

He has said plainly what he thinks of labor movements in England and elsewhere in Europe.

European labor leaders are not to rule Mr. Gompers' American Federation of Labor. Wise Mr. Gompers, he knows that American union labor can and should look after itself.

That is how the average citizen feels about the United States in general. What is good for American labor is also good for the United States.

Dr. Eliot, once president of Harvard, asks which leaders are the majority of American voters going to follow—the heirs of President Wilson's policy, or the Republican leaders who have kept the United States out of the league?

To that question Dr. Eliot will get, in about three weeks, a most definite answer.

Dr. Eliot advises Republicans to "forget party for the league." They will not do that, neither will they forget the United States of America for the league.

Thoroughbred yearlings have gone up in England. The record was an average of $18,000 a head. The latest sale averaged $21,000 a head. One yearling colt sold for $70,000, breaking all yearling records in England.

This interests you faintly, when you figure out your income and other taxes. This country lent five thousand millions to England, and does not ask England to pay the interest, which would be two hundred and fifty millions a year. You and other Americans, with taxes, make up the two hundred and fifty millions, and England can save money to put the price of thoroughbred one-year-old racing machines up to $70,000.

Fasten the League of Nations on this country, make the taxpayers of America permanently the "angels" and financial easy marks of Europe, and the price of thoroughbred yearlings in England might go still higher.

You might think that a country where Lord Glanely could afford $70,000 for a colt, and where the government can afford twenty millions apiece and more for new battleships, could also afford to pay interest on its debt, but it seems not.

Was your heart touched in some great patriotic "drive," did you perhaps say, "Well, I can stand a little more giving," and did you contribute to the "Near East Relief" when you heard how "the poor little Armenian children" and other children were dying?

If so, you are interested in the fine dinner parties given "to high officials of the allies," at which the Near East Relief money was spent. There were Russian singers and Russian dancers to make the dinner cheerful. There were not present at the dinners, however, so far as is known, any starved Armenian children.

In connection with this particular charitable affair six Americans are locked up. How many do you suppose would be locked up if it were possible to identify and punish all the swindling, wasting, stealing and general rascality that went on in the name of sweet charity and "pure patriotism"?

Lord Morley, an influential thinking Englishman; Asquith, former Prime Minister, and Lord Grey are working for better conditions in Ireland and hope for a final sane settlement.

Intelligent Englishmen know that you cannot rule white men as you rule brown and yellow men. From the trouble in Ireland, the slow death of Mayor MacSwiney and other incidents, you learn that if white men intend to be free they must prove that they MEAN it.

Because they have FOUGHT for seven hundred years, the Irish will be free eventually. Seven thousand years of peaceful discussion on submission would not have done that for them.

Make Voting Easy for Women

Is the Election Commission doing all it can to facilitate the registration of women for the coming election? Are the difficulties for holding precinct registrations practically unmountainable? The registration places in the larger districts are a long way off and they are crowded when women get there.

Of course, it may be said that if a woman really wants to vote, she will find out where she must register, and will suffer the inconvenience of travelling thither and of waiting her turn to register. But we do not register for our own benefit. We register for the country's benefit. The country wants the voice of the women. It wants the point of view of the women, and we ought to do all we can to encourage them to vote and to facilitate their voting.
